Dear Sirs

I am writing in order to thank you for awarding me the much coveted Highland Society of London Creative Award.

It means so much to me to receive this award, with it being a wonderful way of having some of my work recognised. As someone who has struggled to make choices between the creative and research sides of academia, it has greatly encouraged me that I am probably right in trying to follow the creative path.

Many thanks again for awarding this to me. It has really made a difference to me.

Yours Faithfully,

Kirstie Ross
